

14TH ANNUAL CAPITOL HILL MODELING AND SIMULATION EXPO

Modeling and Simulation: Technologies to Strengthen the Health and Welfare of our Nation

Thursday, July 9, 2020 | Washington, DC | Rayburn Foyer

Exhibit Hours – 11:30 AM – 2:30 PM | Congressional Commentary – 11:30 AM – 12:30 PM

The National Training and Simulation Association is again sponsoring the Capitol Hill Modeling and Simulation Expo in support of Congressman Bobby Scott and the Congressional Modeling and Simulation Caucus. The event will be held on July 9, 2020, from 11:00 am – 2:30 pm, in the main foyer of the Rayburn House Office Building. The expo will show how modeling and simulation can be used across agencies to support analysis of problems, design of systems, identification of gaps in policies/procedures, and manpower training and education.

The Capitol Hill Expo will provide you with the opportunity to engage U.S. congressmen/women and their staff by demonstrating your technology; they seek to learn ways in which they can help with U.S. policy to further the use and development of these technologies in new and emerging fields. Some particular types of M&S capabilities that are of interest are technologies that can mitigate the effects of the constrained budget environment, including modeling for disaster response, incident command response, national exercise program initiatives, terrorist response, and healthcare simulation.

Space is limited in the foyer. Only a small number of demonstrations will be accepted and none will exceed a footprint of 6' x 6'. The cost to exhibit is $300 and the deadline to demonstrate interest is June 12, 2020.
